

Bell Pensioners' Group
Together, Protecting our Pensions and Benefits

The Bell Pensioners' Group is an association of pensioners from Bell and its affiliates.

History

The Bell Pensioners' Group is a not-for-profit organization incorporated in 1995 and advocates on behalf of the more than 30,000 retirees of Bell and their beneficiaries. Its activities are financed solely from membership dues.

The BPG is a founding member of the Canadian Federation of Pensioners, a growing network of pensioner groups, that together represent 250,000 retired individuals across Canada.

Mandate

The primary objective of the Bell Pensioners' Group is to protect the interests of Bell Canada pensioners in maintaining their defined benefit pensions and benefits. This is accomplished through:

- advocating to government for improved pension legislation and regulations;
- ongoing dialogue and formal meetings with Bell;
- advocating within stakeholder community;
- supporting pensioners' representatives on the Bell corporate Pension Information Committee (PIC).

Mission

The mission of the BPG is "to be recognized by Bell, Bell pensioners, government agencies and the stakeholder community as an effective and influential advocate for our members".

Accomplishments

- BPG participates in every important forum where pension reform is being discussed, from British Columbia to Nova Scotia. We are particularly involved with the federal government because that is the level of government that regulates your pension.
- Based on our numerous representations, we have been invited by the federal government to present our recommendations and we are considered to be an expert stakeholder.
- We keep our members informed via meetings, newsletters and our website, about key issues such as the status of Bell's pension plan and pension reform; we also provide tips and advice on benefits.
- To ensure the positions we take are sound and compelling, we retain the services of outside experts, as required, including legal, actuarial and government relations.
- We consult with Bell on an ongoing basis about the operation of the pension and benefits administration.
- We assist our members in addressing individual pension or benefit problems they could not resolve themselves.

WHY YOU SHOULD JOIN

Over the years, BPG has become a credible and recognized organization, advocating for the rights of pensioners. Our strength comes from our numbers and our ability to present our views and recommendations in a professional manner.

Never in the history of BPG has it been more important to become a member. The federal government has recently modified the legislation that governs your pension plan but changes to other laws and to the regulations are still needed.

The amendments made by the federal government to the current pension rules correspond closely, in many respects, to the recommendations put forward by BPG.

- Join BPG to:
- protect your Bell pensions and benefits
 - support our delegates on the Pension Information Committee (PIC)
 - support our advocacy position on any future legislation affecting pensioners
 - increase the number of members and strengthen our influence
